ANTI-CHINESE BILL.

As Passed in the House It Is More Severe Than the Original Act.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The McCready bill, giving all Chinamen in this country six months longer in which to register under the provisions of the Geary act, passed the house Monday afternoon by a vote of 175 to 10. The one vote against it was that of Mr. Lou, of California.

The slope and the northwestern congressmen voted for the measure, although they had denounced the bill in the roundest terms, and had threatened to vote against it.

The reason for their sudden conversion and support of the bill lies in the fact that the bill, as they voted for it, grants a substantial concession to the elements in the shape of the amendment proposed by Congressman Geary, the author of the original Geary act.

The Geary amendment provides that every Chinaman who goes up to register shall have his photograph attached to his certificate of registration.

The bill was originally intended to be inserted in the Geary act when that was in conference, but it was deemed at that time so harsh that the conferees thought it unwise to make an effort to pass the Geary act with the photograph clause.

The house Monday by adopting the photograph amendment to the bill makes the Geary act even more vigorous than it already is, so it will be seen that the anti-Chinese representatives from the northwestern states and the slope have received a very good price for their permission to let the bill become a law.

A GOLDEN DOME.

The Congressional Library to Have the Finest.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The gliding of the dome of the new congressional library building, the second of the capitol, has progressed far enough to indicate that when completed this golden dome will be one of the most conspicuous and beautiful objects in Washington.

There are not many gilded domes in Paris, the Connecticut statehouse at Hartford, and the Massachusetts statehouse at Boston are the best known.

The dome of the new library building is larger than any of these two-thirds larger. It is estimated, then, the famous dome of the statehouse in Boston.

The building will not be completed for four years. When finished it will have a capacity, according to Librarian Spafford, to accommodate all the books of the world for 100 years to come and still leave seven-eighths of its space.

A Parliamentary Job Set Up by Teller and Dubois.

The Anti-Silverites Walked Right Into the Trap—A Constitutional Question Involved—Prospects of the Chinese Extension Bill in the House.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—The tangle which the senate first found itself in Friday night and which resulted in the adjournment of that body is the outcome of a cleverly laid plot originated by Senator Dubois and executed through the help of Senator Teller.

The silver men knew that on a roll call which would have to be recognized as the repeal members would not be able to obtain a quorum, though on a call of the senate in which pairs can be violated a quorum was present. The difficulty then became to obtain a roll call.

Teller examined the rules and discovered what proved to be a successful manner of bringing about the desired end. It is a rule of the senate that except by unanimous consent a public document can not be read in that body if it has been previously read.

Mr. Teller during a call for a quorum explained his scheme to Mr. Peffer, who was speaking and a few moments later Mr. Peffer from the mass of manuscript that he had on his desk resuscitated a public document and began to read with great deliberation.

Immediately Mr. Teller was on his feet and objected to the reading. He raised a point of order against the reading, which was sustained.

The chairman gave his decision, from which an appeal was taken and a roll call ordered. This was what the silver men were looking for and on the roll call it was developed that no quorum was present.

It was then that the silver men stepped into another trap. Mr. Vilas tried to force Mr. Dubois to vote and a long debate ensued. An effort was made to take a vote that the senate should not excuse Mr. Dubois from voting and on this roll call answer lack of a quorum was developed and the senate was forced to adjourn.

The pending question now becomes the effort to have Mr. Dubois vote and it is the intention of Mr. Vilas to have Mr. Dubois vote.

This, it is stated, will bring out a nice constitutional question which the silver men claim will last for a month at least, and thus the time of the senate will be given to another question and the work of the senate will be much occupied.

In the house Friday a bill was passed increasing the number of the army officers detailed as military instructors of state institutions from seventy-five to one hundred.

Before the debate on the Chinese extension bill was resumed, an agreement was reached by the friends and foes of the measure to vote on the bill Monday at 10 o'clock.

In yesterday's debate the east was pitted against the west, the respective of party lines, the former supporting and the latter assailing the measure.

Mr. Rayner, of Maryland, made a most brilliant speech in advocacy, during which he claimed that the measure was unconstitutional. Mr. Maguire, of California, made a reply on behalf of the Pacific coast and declared it was almost the unanimous opinion of the American bar that the Geary law was unconstitutional.

FOR A DIME.

Children Flushing to the Columbian Exposition—Philanthropic Chicagoans Help Out Children Out of a Peep.

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Everything is in readiness for the successful inauguration of children's week at the fair Monday. The preparations for the reception of the young folks is complete. Instructions have been issued that all children between the ages of 6 and 19 years are to be admitted to the exposition grounds for ten cents apiece. This special rate lasts all this week, and it is expected that thousands upon thousands of boys and girls will avail themselves of it.

Those children whose parents can not afford to send them to Jackson park will not be barred from seeing the glories of the White City. The committee which has undertaken to see that they are cared for is meeting with much encouragement and success also providing means for their entertainment, and all of them will be afforded an opportunity of seeing the fair.

From all indications children's week will be a great success. A. H. Revell and the other expositors officials who are responsible for the movement, are much gratified at the outcome. Supt. Lant and the school officials are also enthusiastic over the affair, and they are all working together to make the week the grandest success of the whole exposition period and city.

With the school children taken care of attention is being called to another class of young folk who are deserving of consideration. They are the cash boys and girls in the big downtown stores.

It was a beautiful, clear, warm day for the youngsters. Not only did nature smile at them, but their activity and bright faces caused more than one staid person to stop and look on them.

The cash boys and girls, in charge of the Ferris wheel, through the planisphere, in the buildings, about the grounds, and the more saving ones, who had stored their pennies for this day, proudly purchased their own tickets for a ride in the Ferris wheel or electric launch. Thousands upon thousands of the little ones swarmed through the gates. Commencing Monday morning the public schools were closed for the week and the attendance from them was very large.

A Scheme to Prejudice Pensioners.

Special from Washington of the 6th inst. says: An investigation of the suspended cases in the Pension Department discloses a gigantic plot on the part of Republican politicians and the former Republican Pension Board, which is far from complimentary to those engaged in it.

After the election last November, it is alleged, word was passed around to the Republican Examining Boards to rate every applicant for pension just as low as possible, and to make unfavorable reports in as many cases as possible, so that when the claims came to be passed under the incoming Democratic Administration the blame could be attached to it, and it did appear as though the Democratic pension officials were opposed to the soldier and not in favor of granting pensions.

The most evil effects of this systematic conspiracy appear in cases where the claimant had already been granted a pension and had applied for an increase, and was ordered before these Republican boards after the November election and prior to the appointment of new Democratic boards. In many of such cases the boards reported no disability whatever, so that when the claims came to be passed upon in the Pension Office it appeared that instead of the claimant being entitled to an increase he was not entitled to any pension at all, and was therefore suspended.

The outrage thus perpetrated for political effect is shown up in the most glaring way when these claimants are ordered before the new boards for examination, and in every instance so far it has resulted in being placed back upon the rolls.

This shows to what extent Republican officials will go, and how far they will prostitute their offices if they can gain a vote for their party. Many of the boards were not changed before July 1, and they continued their practice up to the very hour of their going out of office. But the worst thing of all has been underhanded methods by the Republican politicians in Ohio and elsewhere, by which they have filed charges and affidavits against their neighbors to have them suspended, in order that a sentiment might be created against the Democratic party. These cases are being investigated rapidly, and nothing of the sort will be tolerated by the Pension Bureau, and the men who have been suspended are being placed back upon the rolls as rapidly as possible.

No soldier need have any fear that injustice will be done him by this administration, the efforts of the Republican politicians and former Republican boards to the contrary notwithstanding. The matter is now under investigation, and will soon be brought to light.

It still exists in southern

The World's Fair.

What a week! Beginning with Sunday, whose attendance exceeded that of any previous Sunday followed by Chicago day with 716,000 paid admissions, Tuesday and Wednesday with 308,000 each and the rest of the week in the same strain! There's a record for you—the exposition out of debt and attendance way up in the clouds.

Chicago set out to beat the best Paris record—397,000—and almost doubled it. And when the difference in prices of admission—20 cents at Paris and 50 cents at Chicago—is considered the feat is positively startling. Never was there such a gathering of people in limited space; never was there such a stupendous outpouring since the beginning of time. It was the sight of a century, yes a decade of centuries, and in all probability will never be duplicated.

Few accidents marred the day, though there was much discomfort. It could not be otherwise. For all that the crowd was a jolly one and despite the enforced limitations of space hilarity reigned supreme.

As nearly as possible the program laid out beforehand was carried through though the multitude seriously interfered with the night parade of floats. In the evening the air and water were alive with fireworks and gondolas and electric launches looked their prettiest bedecked with Chinese lanterns.

Transportation to and from the park was attended by numerous difficulties. At every railroad and steamboat station there was for hours in the early part of the day a terrific jam, repeated at the exposition entrances and again seen at the close of the celebration. But so well were the crowds handled that at 12 o'clock midnight the grounds were deserted.

Sixty-six children, ranging from 3 years up, were lost by parents and remained at the grounds all night in charge of the authorities. Two days elapsed before all were restored to their homes.

The total attendance, including passes, was slightly in excess of 750,000.

The flood did not end Monday. Tuesday there were 308,775. And so the record ran.

New York City is bound to have a big day Oct. 21, if we may judge from preparatory work. Already 500,000 souvenir tickets have been issued. New Yorkers are taking great interest in the celebration and will come in droves. Round trip railroad rates have been placed at $15.

Supt. Singer of the lost and found department says that the following articles were found in Jackson park Chicago day and deposited in his office: Fifteen pocket-books with money, twenty-five umbrellas, 100 women's wraps, five overcoats, ten pairs of spectacles, five satchels, ten women's shopping bags, five railroad tickets, and enough odd gloves to sink an electric launch. He estimates that these are about one-tenth of the articles lost in the park that day. He has had already 2,000 applications, and about one in ten found what he was looking for.

Mr. Singer says he has had, first and last, about 3,500 articles in his possession still. The most worthless thing brought him is a worn-out 10-cent fan, but he is the custodian of diamonds also. Sometimes the owner leaves a reward for the finder, but this is rare. The largest reward ever paid was $5, paid by a New York man for the recovery of a diamond pin. The wife of a United States senator lost two diamond rings worth $500 and got them back and did not offer one cent reward nor care to inquire who found them.

Mr. Singer says that 99 per cent. of the people who lose things in the park are women.

The fifty musicians composing the Chicago band have been dismissed from the employment of the World's Fair authorities for refusing to play in conjunction with the Cincinnati band. The Chicago Musical society, a trades union organization, one of the rules of which prohibits its members from playing with outside musicians. The rules apply to visiting bands only when the visitors accept a six months' engagement, as in the present case. Adolph Liebsang, leader of the Chicago band, said the Cincinnati band was engaged for the World's Fair by Theodore Thomas with the express understanding that its members should join the Chicago Musical society. This, after much temporizing, they had at last refused to do, and the result was open war.

When the various state buildings were erected at the north end of the fair grounds the question of salvage cut but little figure in the plans of the state commissions. Most of the commissions were then flush of money. The end of the season finds most of the state appropriations exhausted, and several of the commissions are hoping for salvage in the demolition of the buildings to make ends meet. Most of them will be disappointed. The buildings of a purely temporary character will be torn down at a loss to their owners. Those that can be moved have been on the market for some time, but bidders are few. The raising of the Illinois Central tracks in front of Jackson park forms a blockade to house moving except north or south of the park.

There is but one state building in the entire list of about two score that is eagerly sought by bidders, and that is Idaho's unique log house, at the extreme north end of the grounds. The building has not yet been sold, but Capt. Wells, the Idaho commissioner, has at least half a dozen offers, ranging from $5,000 upwards.

The probable revenue from gate receipts after Nov. 1, has not been estimated. That the fair will be open for a few days after a fashion, has never been denied, nor has it been questioned for a moment that the work of destruction will begin at once. Visitors will be allowed to come in after Nov. 1 just as they were before the opening on May 1, but they will not see the exposition in a perfect state. They will see thousands of busy workmen taking down pictures, packing statuary, removing rare pottery from show cases and tearing down pavilions that a few days before were jammed with displays. They will see the fair as it was late in April, not as it appeared on Chicago day.

"The exposition will run several weeks in spite of itself," said President Higginbotham. "We could not bring it to a sudden close if we wanted to, without offending thousands of visitors who have not seen enough of it, but the gates be formally closed on Oct. 31."

Chicago's schools close Monday, October 16, for one week, in order to give pupils an opportunity to see the exposition glories.

The western railroads will bring people in from now on at one cent a mile each way, tickets good on any train. If this rate had held from the beginning the fair would have been seen by millions who will now be content with hearsay.

Here and There.

We have been blessed with some good rains lately, the tranches are running and the springs and wells are all filled up.

We are also glad to say that we do not know of any sickness in the neighborhood, but am sorry that we cannot announce any marriages. Sorghum mills have been busy both day and night, and if the frost keeps off a few days longer the "sop" will all be made.

Seed time is over for the season and there is a large acreage of wheat sown in this section.

Hogs are very scarce, and the farmers are offering fabulous prices for hogs to fatten this fall, but they cannot be found at any price.

The Rev. Daniel Higgins preached at Glenwood last Sunday evening and at Palestine at night. He will preach here again the second Sunday in next month at 10:30 o'clock.

Mr. Alfred Bolt, of Bolts Fork, was here to-day taking orders for tombstones.

Mr. J. Q. Adams a popular man of Spring creek, was here to-day on some special business, best known to himself.

Mrs. Dora Barrett, our teacher, is making preparations for a large exhibition the last day of her school, which will be in about two weeks.

Wesley Webb, wife and daughter Frosia, started this morning for the World's Fair. They will likely be about about two weeks.

In spite of the hard times, we notice several new buildings in course of erection all over the country. Calvin Holbrook, who has lingered with dropsy for over a year died one day last week, aged 63 years. He was buried by Masonic orders. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Isaac Fanning.

Some one has figured out that there is now in circulation, twenty-four dollars and two cents to every man, woman and child. We believe this is a mistake, or either our share has failed to come to hand.

John Holbrook, on receipt of a telegram, has just arrived from Wash., that his father was laying at the point of death, but he did not get here until the day after his father was buried.

Since the commencement of this letter, we learn that Mr. G. W. Adams, and Miss Rebecca Holbrook have each a severe attack of typhoid fever.

Mr. and Mrs. Twinam and son Billy, of Mavity, Boyd county, was here Tuesday attending the funeral of Mr. Holbrook.

We are sorry to say that we can't get the News for four days after it is printed—all on the account of the mail not coming here on Saturdays, in place of Mondays. But better late than never.

Doctor Sparks, of Vessie, was here Saturday telling some good jokes, one of which was about being caught in a wreck on a railroad out West, which was quite amusing to the boys. Doc is a jovial good fellow, and is ever ready to joke with the boys.

Billy Menix, our weather prophet, prophesied that the ground would be froze hard enough this morning to bear up a horse, but we are glad that Billy's prophecy failed.

Walter Queen's little boy, Curtis, was taken violently ill yesterday with some kind of fever. Dr. Sparks being here at the time, was called in and administered to the little fellow, but he is no better this morning.

Kirk Queen and John Holbrook came to Glenwood. Saturday to do some trading at the store. Their aggregate weight was four hundred and thirteen pounds. RAMBLER.

Perhaps some of our readers would like to know in what respect Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better than any other. We will tell you. When this Remedy is taken as soon as a cold has been contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it will counteract the effect of the cold and greatly lessen its severity, and it is the only remedy that will do this. It acts in perfect harmony with nature and aids nature in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions, liquefying the mucus and causing its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs and restoring the system to a strong and healthy condition. No other remedy in the market possesses these remarkable properties. No other will cure a cold so quickly. For sale by A. M. Hughes, Louisville, Ky.

Senator Blackburn's Position.

Standing with reluctant feet, Where the gold and silver meet, Joseph Blackburn, U. S. S., Rides proudly to confound That to save his life he can't Have good money. Therefore, hence, Joseph climbs upon the fence; And he waits there, day by day, For the cat to jump some way; Some may call, some may swear, Joe, the suave and debonaire, Seeks to hide, by trick or law, His own sins and his crew. Still Joe thinks that he stands put On the wholeness of his act; Only to the envious mind It's a straddling of the blind, Which, perhaps, in times like these, For a man who strives to please, Isn't half bad, don't you know, Save to those who're not for Joe, It is statecraft Machiavel! Never showed up quite so well; And they say that Mac knew how Best to milk the public cow So's to fill his empty pail While one party, at her tail, Pulled and hauled, and at her head, To her dragged. It may be said, Never did true diplomat Designate where he was at; Hence when Joseph, from the fence, Pours out floods of eloquence, Let us listen, soul-entranced, To the arguments advanced, Knowing that, although we soar, Into realms of words galore, At the final end of it Joe'll be back again, to-wit: Standing with reluctant feet Where the gold and silver meet. —New York Sun.

FALSE REPORTS.

Election Lies in Circulation.

It seems that campaigns are now considered incomplete without the circulation of a big lot of falsehoods, and the present one is no exception. Some of the most absurd lies are set a-going with the hope that they will reach voters who will not hear the truth, which travels so much more slowly than its enemy—falsehood.

The Republicans have slyly reported through the country that a great number of Louisiana Democrats will vote for some of the Republican nominees. Such a thing was never more improbable than it is this year. With the possible exception of a very few cases where relationship may be heeded, we can state positively that the prospects were never better for a straight party vote. We have investigated the matter since the report reached us and find that the Democrats of Louisiana will do their duty toward the whole ticket.

Mr. Stuart seems to have been singled out as the particular object of these reports. It is always so in the case of the strongest man, for the opposition feels that "something has got to be done." What we stated above applies particularly to Stuart. Why the case should be otherwise it is impossible to see. He is a man in every sense of the word, and is the peer of any man in the county in point of qualification for the position he seeks. He has had experience in various schools and several districts of this and other counties, which is certainly a very great necessity to a Superintendent, as it shows him the needs which he will be called upon to deal with. Without this variety of experience a man is not competent to decide many matters which will come before him. Mr. Stuart's superior ability and fitness cannot be denied.

Fellow Democrats of the country, close your ears to all unfavorable reports of our standard bearers this year. Nothing objectionable can be truthfully said of any of them. These reports are traps set to catch you. Keep your eyes open and don't walk into any traps. Every hint of the unloyalty of Louisiana Democrats should promptly be set down as a lie out of whole cloth. Go to the polls and place just one X on your ballot right where the rooster roosts, and all will be well. You will be glad you did it.

A Serious Accident.

Last week our friend John Murray got into a peck of trouble on Little Point creek, Johnson Co. He was on his way from Prestonsburg to Paintsville, in the mail hack, having sent his sample trunks with clothing on ahead, in a spring wagon. In crossing Paint, just above East Point, the horses, wagon and sample trunks and men all went down in a deep hole, nothing having been lost, or damaged, except the clothing samples, which got soaking wet. Instead of waiting and warning the people in the mail hack, the driver, after getting his wagon out, went on. When the mail hack came along it too, got a ducking, resulting in the drowning of one mule, and a ducking of all the passengers, including Mr. Murray. One lady passenger floated down the creek until she came to an overhanging tree, to which she clung until assistance arrived. Four trunks and one mail pouch were discovered the next day after the water fell. One mail pouch has not yet been found.

Married.

According to the announcement last week, Mr. John Crutcher, of this place, was on last Wednesday married to Miss Rose Castle, of the home of her father, Wm. Castle, in the upper part of the county. Very few guests were present.

Rev. J. S. Cox pronounced the ceremony at noon, and the happy couple came down on the afternoon train. They went at once to their home, which the groom had previously furnished.

The bride is a handsome young lady of modest demeanor, and will prove a valuable helpmeet to her husband. She is a sister of Mrs. D. C. Spencer.

The groom is a worthy young man of high character and good business ability, and is noted for his industry and close attention to business. He has been the trusted employee of Mr. D. C. Spencer for several years. The News wishes the young couple all the joy and success which they may hope for.

Got There at Last.

The Court of Appeals last week passed upon a case which was petitioned to that of Peter Riffe and Frank Jones, of this place, and the decision settled the matter in Riffe's favor. Consequently he has qualified as magistrate and Jones has stepped out. The latter was appointed more than a year ago to fill a vacancy caused by the death of S. B. Justice, and last November Riffe was elected to succeed Jones, who refused to surrender the place upon the grounds that there had been no occasion for an election.

"Don't commit suicide on account of your 'inecurable' blood disease. The sensible thing for you to do is to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. If that fails, why, then—keep on trying, and it will not fail. The trouble is, people get discouraged too soon. 'Try, try, try again.'"

MADGE.

The usual quiet of our community has been disturbed of late by what is supposed to be a panther roaming through our forests. It was first heard about a month ago by some coon hunters. Since then its hideous screams have been heard almost nightly to the vicinity of upper Cat and the Twin Branches. Its screams resemble much those of a woman. Its track has been seen and measured by several men of undoubted veracity, and they measured about 4 inches in width by 5 1/2 in length. Several hunting parties have been organized to try to capture his panther ship or whatever it may be, but no fox hound has yet been found that will run his trail, and no dog can be induced to go toward him when he is heard but set up a howl in answer to his screams. This is no sensational story, but the facts about some animal of immense proportions, judging from his track and powerful screams, which is visiting us and has the effect of keeping people in doors at night.
